THE PNEUMATIC GUN TESTS.

Which is Not Conclusive. Commodore Sampson, chief of the bureau of fixed pneumatic guns, would be useful. While is run through the tube, keeping the temperthe theory of the system is generally acceptable. ature of the tube lower than that of the jacket, it has never been found to work satisfactorily, and Commodore Sampson points out in his comment that the recent tests showed no advance over the trials with the system back in 1889. The faults visible at that time were no less pronounced at the latest trial, and in the intervening period of equipment nothing had been done to increase the efficiency of the pneumatic system. The fault now, as then, is with the time. The fault now, as then, is with the time were no less proposed for equipment nothing had been done to increase the efficiency of the pneumatic system. The fault now, as then, is with the time were no less proposed for equipment nothing had been done to increase the efficiency of the pneumatic system. The fault now, as then, is with the time were nother than that of the jacket, and removing it as far as possible from the expanding influence of the heat.

By this process, it is thought, it will be possible to control the jacket on the tube, which requires the grand plaza around the administration building was packed with humanity.

At 11 o'clock the board of administration communicate the heat in the jacket to the tube, which is also expanded while the jacket to the grounds when the princess and her entourage the roadway over which she was to pass was lined on each side by thousands upon thousands of people eagerly waiting to catch a glimpse of her, and the grand plaza around the administration building was packed with humanity.

At 11 o'clock the board of administration estimated that there were 100,000 people on the grounds when the princess and her entourage the roadway over which she was to pass was lined on each side by thousands upon thousands of people eagerly waiting to catch a glimpse of her, and the grand plaza around the administration building was packed with humanity.

Commodore Sampson recommended that the Navy Department await the results of the approaching test at Sandy Hook of the pneumatic ns ordered for the coast defense system-ere will be one eight and two fifteen-inch guns, operated on the same principal as those the Vesuvius. There will be improvements ich, the owners of the system claim, place the guns upon a thoroughly efficient basis. The valves have been altered to give the guns a cerguns of the Vesuvius. There is an arrange-ment, too, for elevating and depressing and training the guns, so as to remove the objec-tions surrounding the fixed weapons of the warships. Some of the ordnance experts do not believe that this device for elevating and depressing the pneumatic gun can be applied to the system, and in any event its successful plication is of minor consequence compared the necessity of rendering the valves more prompt and certain.
Secretary Herbert has practically adopted

Commodore Sampson's suggestion. Therefore upon the results of the tests at Sandy Hook will depend the continuance in the naval service of the pneumatic system of ordnance. TO MAKE THE NEW RIFLES.

Work Soon to Begin Actively at the Springfield Armory.

Preparations are being made in the ordnance production of this arm was ordered during the facture by the 1st proximo. Arrangements have also been made for the manufacture of ammunition for the guns at the Frankford arsenal. The ammunition has to be specially made, as the caliber of the new gan is much smaller than that of the present service rifle. It is said that the ordnance officers at Springfield will continue the search for a better weapon than the Krag-Jorgensen gun. No board will be detailed, but Capt. Blount, the recorder of the two recent boards which examined magazine guns, will accept for preliminary test such new devices as may be submitted. When enough guns of merit have been secured, he will ask for a board to conduct an examination on the lines and under the conditions of the trials recently held.

MEDICAL PENSION BOARDS.

The Rules Which Will Govern Appoin ments in the Future. cretary Hoke Smith intends to reorganize

the 1,260 boards of pension examining surgeons, and he has announced that it is his purpose to appoint on these boards only men who pose to appoint on these boards only men who stand in the very front rank of the profession in their respective localities and men who keep exposition was national in its character. But all sorts of doings. well abreast of the times in medical science. it is a characteristic of American thought that Another inflexible condition to appointment will be that of unquestioned integrity. The politics of applicants will not, it is said, be made ment it must be found in with partnership or of first importance, although, all other things being equal, democrats undoubtedly will be wiven the preference. An official, in speaking of the matter today, said that recommendaions by men of known character in the medical profession would be more efficacious in secur-ing an appointment on pension boards than if made by politicians. The active work of reor-ganization will soon be begun.

Dr. McGlynn on His Way to Rome. The New York Advertiser says: Dr. Edward McGlynn will probably be in Rome Saturday or Sunday. He goes to the eternal city in obedience to the order of the papal ablegate, Mgr. Satolli, who reinstated him in his priestly office. The departure of Dr. McGlynn was secret, none but his intimate friends being aware of it. How he went or under what name no one will tell. It is known, however, that he sailed eight days ago. The fact that Dr. McGlynn had gone created excitement in Roman Catholic circles in this city this evening, for the secret had just leaked out. An intimate friend of the expaster of St. Stephen's said: "Dr. McGlynn goes to Rome. He simply obeys the order of the pope's representative. He will come back, we firmly believe, fully and absolutely vindicated in his course so far as the land question and polities are concerned."

CLOSING THE FAIR SUNDAY.

ill make a shot quite different from the Some of the Reasons Given by Judges Jenkins and Grossenp.

Judge Jenkins, in his decision on the Sunday closing of the fair yesterday, after reviewing the history of the Columbian exposition and the relations existing between the United States government and the exposition corporation, and the relations of both to the enterprise, said: "It was found that the scheme had outgrown the financial ability of the local corporation. Congress was asked for aid. Congress passed a law giving $2,500,000 to the exposition. Section 4 of Sunday and that if the gift should be accepted the acceptance should be considered as an agreement to the conditions. It is said that this of Congress in that it seeks to estab-lish a religious test. I cannot concur in that suggestion. The legislature with respect to the first day of the week has nothing to do with the matter of a religious test or the compulsion of the observance of a particular religious belief or service; the day of rest is needful for humanity to recover from the strain of six days' labor. This is founded on humanity, and is justified outside of any question of creed or of religion. The laws of the state bearing on this point provide for rest and for non-interruption of religious services. It is not compulsory on any one to go to church, but it provides peace

The machinery necessary for the production of this arm was ordered during the production of this arm was ordered during the production of this arm was ordered during the recent competition, and the armory at Spring-field, Mass., will be fully equipped for its manu-which the courts must enforce. The local corporation accepted the money and passed a rule closing the fair on Sunday. It has received a arge sum of money as a conditional gift, and the conditions must be observed by the donee, and a court of chancery, on proper present tion, must see to it that the conditions lai down are enforced. In retaining the $500,000 or more out of the $2,500,000 the United States or more out of the $2,500,000 the United States did no more than it had a right to do, because the national honor is involved.

"The resolution to open the fair on Sunday was not legally passed. The corporation cannot change rules once adopted by the commission as soon as the commission's back is turned. In the the state court which has passed on this case I will say that the United States was not a party in that court. I think that there can be no question but that the United States has a right to use courts of its own jurisdiction to bygone occurrences and suggested that a huge being conclusions and the all important question and the all important question. of Judges Jenkins and Woods that the power to such things should be done by the pe contract. Congress had voted $2,500,000 to the fair and made it a condition of the gift ing if it had known that part of the appropria-tion was to be withheld? "This law was passed by Congress after the acceptance of the former conditional gift. It was a new condition imposed without the consent of the other party. The construction placed on this act by the law officers of the government attributes to Congress a purility of purpose. The national commission was insted with the task of providing jurors of award, and this was as clearly a portion of its duties as anything else that it had done, and the expense should be borne by the commission, as was the cost of classifying the exhibits. This expense should not be saddled on the local corporation by Congress. Congress has no power to create indebtedness for the local corporation, and the act of March 3, 1893, was unjustifiable.

Edwin Walker, counsel for the world's fair held at the academy hall this morning at 10 directory, addressed the court and prayed an o'clock, a large number of invited guests being appeal to the appellate court, which, he said, is in session. The matter could be definitely decided in a few days. He asked also that the court fix a bond which would act as a super-

The Assignment of Naval Cadets. Of the seven naval cadets reported physically leficient by the academic board and granted a re-examination by the Navy Department board all but two will be honorably discharged with a year's pay. The two cadets who passed the second examination successfully are L. H. Gross of Illinois and E. A. Elder of Massachusetts. The names of those who failed have already been published in The STAR. With these five rejections the question of appointing line cadets to the surplus vacancies is not so imperative as it was before. Secretary Her-bert is quoted as saying that he has not settled in his mind whether any except the seven cadets of the engineer division at Annapolis examining boards there will probably be five additional vacancies in the line July 1. There are now fifteen vacancies in the line and six in the marine corps, and the problem of pro-viding places for the entire graduating class is not now so serious as it at first appeared The Welsh coal people are disappointed to and that the Campania, on her late brilliant
